

FLY HIGH
BUT DONT
FLY HIGH

"The zeal of flying high is the best. The habit of flying high is the worst."

Fly high, with all your wings gleaming in the bright Sun, as if the Sun was looking at you in approbation and admiring your assiduous efforts in achieving your goals. Work, work, work. Toil hard with perseverance and sincerity to attain your target. Hard work beats talent if talent doesn't work hard. Make your aim crystal clear, and invest each and every drop of your sweat in taking a step forward towards your target. Keep your distractions aside, they are your greatest nemesis. Always keep in mind the words of Elon Musk, a successful entrepreneur, "No matter how hard you work, someone else is working harder.", and hence, move forward by never underestimating your rivals. Success is the result of the amount of time we put in at work, instead of the quality of time we put in. Coming out of our comfort zones and accepting to walk on the tough path which includes giving up on our likes and attachments, will make us reach our destination; because the only place where success comes before work is in the dictionary.

Work hard, have fun, make history.

BUT, don't forget that your aim is not your ONLY target. As a citizen of this country, and as the ray of hope of your family, you got several other responsibilities. The hands that raised you, it's your duty to hold those hands when in need, and thereby move forward. From your parents you learn love and laughter and how to put one foot after the other. From your culture, language, history and values you get your identity, and they are vital for uniting us as a single nation. But when books are opened, you discover that you have wings. Fly high, but not too high, or else it will take you to a place devoid of love, emotions, and patriotism. Don't own the clouds.

Make them your home; a home filled with your success stories and most importantly, your parents – the foundation of your home-of-win. Take your parents, your culture, your ethics, your morals, your well-wishers along with you as you soar high above.

So, reach great heights. Make your building of success taller and taller, by adding one floor to it everytime to achieve each of your short-term aims, which eventually leads to the final one. And remember to make enough rooms for all those people and values who and which are the reason of your existence in this world, who and which are the reason you will be remembered beyond the grave. Your aim should be made up of your duties, obligations, responsibilities and then, your materialistic profit goals. Fly high, but don't get habituated to fly high. Be someone, this world will be proud to have.

"Born from Ashes
I'll spread my wings, and I'll learn how to fly
I'll do what it takes till I touch the sky
And I'll make a wish
Take a chance
Make a change
And breakaway
Out of the darkness and into the sun"
